CASA MERCADO

No quiet entrances.

33 pieces. Three hats.
One very confident fish.

The boat has seen better days. We have never looked better.

A little silk. A lot of fish. A hat for every version of you. Welcome aboard the second Casa Mercado wardrobe: made for friends, the crew and the long way home.

You can sit with us.

03	THE SILK SITUATION
09	HATS, BAG & VERY GOOD SOLES
13	THE COLOURFUL ONES
15	GOOD COLLARS & THE CREW
19	THE ENGRAVED TEES
23	EVERYTHING, IN ONE PLACE

Same shirt. Entirely your own way.

More character. Less itinerary.

Salt in the hair. Silk everywhere else.

THE DEEP END / S$485

Loose Ends.

A perfectly good rope. A spectacularly bad plan.

Giant mooring lines, impossible knots and one fish trying to get out of the conversation.

UNISEX SILK / S$485

The rope was perfectly happy until we got involved.

Wrong Direction.

For someone with such a beautiful shirt, your navigation is appalling.

Cardinal marks, wandering chart lines and enough yellow to be spotted from the next island.

UNISEX SILK / S$485

The island is over there. Probably.

Squid Pro Quo.

A squid with far too much reach and absolutely no respect for personal space.

Pink tentacles take over aubergine silk. The fishing technique remains under review.

UNISEX SILK / S$485

Fishing equipment: two hands and unreasonable confidence.

One more for the fish.

Emerald silk. Giant flying fish. Pink cocktails that appear to have escaped the drinks trolley.

We were only stopping for lunch.

UNISEX SILK / S$485

One for you. One for me. One more for the fish.

Subtle has gone overboard.

THE BOAT DUFFLE / S$485

Natural canvas. Navy handles. A flying fish with extremely strong opinions about packing.

Spare shirt. Sunscreen.
The good crisps.
No room for a sensible itinerary.

A very good sole decision.

Ivory / navy

The Court Canvas — S$225

The Dock Shoe — S$245
